Parish Nurses Making a Difference

If you’ve had an experience helping a member of your faith community that you could share with your parish nursing colleagues, please e-mail us at ParishNurse@mercy.pmhs.org or call us at 412-232-7151 to tell us about it so we can write it up. The confidentiality of the client and/or church will be maintained. Recently we heard from a parish nurse in suburban Pittsburgh who wrote:

My pastor told me about a phone call he received from a woman who did not belong to the parish, but called to ask him, “Would you bury me?” She told the pastor that she attended church only sporadically during her life because her career involved a great deal of travel.

Now well past retirement and having some health problems, she has been thinking that she would like to return to the church of her parents so that she could be buried from the church. The pastor told her that he would need to meet with her, but she offered numerous excuses that she was very busy for the next several weeks. A subsequent call by the pastor got the same response of being too busy to meet with him. I suggested to the pastor that he call and ask her if she would like to have the Parish Nurse visit. The woman agreed, and I called to make arrangements.

During the visit, she shared many concerns about her declining health and the increasing difficulty of living alone. I did a lot of listening, checked her blood pressure, and answered questions about her medications.

Just as I was getting ready to guide the conversation to talking about her returning to the church, she brought the subject up herself. “Since I’ve been away from the church so long, I just don’t feel like I want the pastor to visit me.” Her anxiety was understandable. I told her that it’s never too late to come back to the church and promised that she would not regret having the pastor visit her. Of course I will follow up with a phone call next week...but as I left her apartment, she said, “I’m going to call and ask him to come over to see me.”
Focus on Health and Wellness

◆ When looking at the long list of “awareness” ideas for September, we can’t help but think about how we are called to take care of our own bodies and honor our Lord with service to others. September puts an emphasis on what we eat and what we do to keep ourselves in the best of shape. Safety at home and in the community is a priority. As we leave the less hurried summer months and go into the more structured part of the year, we need to choose our activities wisely so that we can best use our time to serve our Lord and those around us while not allowing ourselves to become over burdened with activities. That is a tall order.

◆ Don’t forget to stay informed with the possible spread of H1 N1 flu. Go to www.cdc.gov/h1n1flu for the latest updates. Remind people to stay healthy with plenty of rest, eating right and taking all of the simple but important precautions like hand washing and staying away from people who are ill as much as possible. Seeing a doctor promptly if flu symptoms do occur can limit the time and severity in some cases.

◆ Many of the people we come in contact with in our faith communities are students from the very young to adults going back for more education. As parish nurses and health ministers, we may come in contact with those who are being bullied in a variety of ways. While many older people remember a little bullying as just part of growing up, today’s bullying tends to be much more sinister. There are many resource helps offered on the web including: www.mayoclinic.com/health/bullying/MH00126

Bulletin Articles for October

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month. While a long list of other October Awareness ideas is available at http://www.healthfinder.gov/nho/nho.asp, many people need this brought before them every year along with the encouragement to get a yearly mammogram.

Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits; He pardons all your iniquities, he heals all your ills. He redeems your life from destruction, He crowns you with kindness and compassion.

(Psalm 103:2-4)
American women have a one in eight chance of developing breast cancer in their lifetime. The exact causes remain unknown, but risk factors include the following:

- Aging, alcohol use, and obesity
- Family history (mother, sister, or daughter)
- Race; Caucasians are slightly higher
- Women who have not had children
- Long term use of Hormone Replacement Therapy

Detection through mammography and monthly self-breast examination are the best known methods of early discovery, when the cancer is most treatable. The American Cancer Society recommends that every woman age 40 and over should obtain an annual mammogram and breast examination by a healthcare professional. Women between the ages of 20 and 39 should have a breast exam by a healthcare professional every three years. A diagnosis of breast cancer is alarming, but is more hopeful than in the past because most women (83%) now recover.
